THE FOREIGN TRADE OF 1895.

THE returns of our foreign and colonial trade for the month of December fully maintain the improvement displayed in recent months, the imports reaching a total value of £36,967,505, being an excess of £3,897,025, equal to 11·8 per cent. as compared with the corresponding month of 1894, while the exports were valued at £19,179,538, being an increase of £1,678,953, or 9 6 per cent. The returns for the complete year exhibit a substantial gain in the value of both imports and exports, as compared with 1894, though the percentages of increase are comparatively moderate. The total value of commodities imported during the year was £416,687,630, which compares with £408,344,810 in 1894, the increase of £8,342,820 being equal to 2·4 per cent. The improvement in our export trade was more pronounced, the total of £226,169,174 comparing with £215,824,333 in the previous year, the increase thus amounting to £10,314,841, or 4·8 per cent. It is interesting to observe that while a greater activity was noticeable in many of our leading industries, at anyrate during the second quarter of the year, its effect was not distinctly manifest in any statistical form until the seventh month, but since then the improvement has been steady and well sustained. In order to exhibit clearly the course of the year's trade, we give a statement of imports and exports for each month, compared with the corresponding month of the previous year. It will be seen from this that owing mainly to the heavy falling off in the month of February, in consequence of the interruption to navigation, caused by the inclement weather experienced at that period, a substantial leeway had to be made up before a parity with the figures of 1894 could be accomplished. The total figures for the year are consequently not to be taken as an adequate measure of the expansion in our foreign trade. If the last six months be taken separately the increase in imports reaches £15,463,586, equal to 7·8 per cent., while in exports the value is £11,740,894, or 10 7 per cent. in excess of the last six months of 1894. The statement is as follows :—

Coming to the details of the returns, our imports of bread-stuffs last month were somewhat smaller in quantity than in December, 1894, but the higher prices have resulted in an increase of value. The total imports of wheat in the twelve months reached 81,749,855 cwts, valued at £22,526,171, as compared with 70,126,232 cwts, valued at £18,760,505 in 1894. The increase in quantity is equal to 16·6 per cent., and in value to 20·1 per cent. Out of a total increase of 11,600,000 cwts of wheat, Russia supplied 6,200,000 cwts more than in 1894, and the American and Indian shipments each exceeded those of the previous year by about 3,000,000 cwts, while smaller quantities come from Argentina and Australasia. An increase of about £1,000,000 in dead meat is accounted for by larger imports of preserved beef and frozen mutton, the value of the bacon, hams, and salt meat imported being nearly on a level with the totals for 1894.

Our imports of raw materials during December were, as a rule, on a much larger scale than in the corresponding month of 1894 The only important exception was raw cotton, of which the receipts have fallen off on account of the short crop in the United States, and the disturbed condition of the market.

Our importation of iron ore in 1895 was practically the same as in 1894; while the features among imports of other metals were an increase in the value of copper regulus from Spain and a heavy decline in the receipts of unwrought copper from the United States. As regard textile materials, the quantity of cotton imported shows a slight falling off as compared with 1894, and this occurs entirely in the shipments from Brazil and India, the receipts of American and Egyptian in each case exceeding the totals for the two preceding years. In spite of the recent sharp advance, the average price of the year was lower than in 1894, since the shrinkage in quantity was only 1·7 per cent., while in value there is a fall of 7·6 per cent. Imports of Australasian wool have grown from 502,002,490 lbs in 1894 to 541,394,383 lbs in 1895, but somewhat less came from India than in the previous year. Imports of sundry raw materials all show an expansion except timber, which, although now coming in larger quantities, has not in the aggregate reached the total of 1894.

A class of imports which calls for attention on the part of our manufacturers is that of manufactured articles. These were imported during 1895 to the amount of £75,625,000, an increase of no less than £6,700,000 as compared with 1894. Of this sum, about £2,500,000 was due to a larger importation of French silk goods, and a further £1,000,000 in woollen goods, also mainly from France. Increased imports of leather account for nearly another £1,000,000, of which France contributed £177,000, India £293,000, Australasia £160,000, and the United States £170,000. We also imported more iron manufactures, boots and shoes, and paper and strawboards than in 1894, while there was a decrease in glass manufactures and watches

The year's exports make, on the whole, a very satisfactory exhibit as compared with 1894. Among textile manufactures the only case in which a shrinkage occurred was cotton piece-goods, and this was due mainly to the large importations into India in 1894 in anticipation of the imposition of an import duty, and the restriction this year since the duty was imposed. The decrease in the value of piece-goods sent to India, Ceylon, and the Straits Settlements was no less than £5,600,000, and as the total decrease for the year was only £3,400,000 there was a partial offset in the shape of larger shipments to China, Japan, Chili, and the Argentine Republic, the last-named taking nearly double the quantity shipped in 1894. An increase of £600,000 in linen manufactures was due almost entirely to the larger demand for the United States, while the shipments of woollen yarn were swollen by £955,000 on account of Germany. The most important feature of the year's trade in textiles was the extraordinary expansion in the demand for woollen and worsted goods from the United States. The value of woollen goods sent to America reached £1,464,591, as compared with £309,324 in the previous year, and of worsted tissues £4,832,144, against £1,259,000. Except for a comparatively small expansion in the trade with our Australasian and South African colonies, these movements account for the whole increase in worsted and woollen goods. Our exports of metal manufactures for the year were nearly £1,000,000 in excess of the total for 1894, nearly all of which was in iron and steel goods. The bulk of the increase appears in the shipments of various manufactures to India, Australasia, and South Africa, which offsets a diminution in the quantities sent to the Continent and in the export of tin-plates to the United States. The value of engines and machinery exported was also £1,000,000 greater than in 1894. The increase, however, was confined to machinery, mainly on account of the expansion in trade with British possessions, the development of the gold mining industry creating an extra demand for mining machinery in Australia and South Africa, while India took textile machinery to the amount of £827,150, against £766,442 in 1894. Among other exports, the quantity of coal shipped was slightly more than in the previous year, but, owing to the lower prices, the value was nearly £2,000,000, or 11·1 per cent., less. Apparel shows an increase of £410,000, the greater part of which was on account of South Africa.
